What you need to know about this course.

This is an online course that you can study at your own pace. This means that you will login to Study Cloud where you are provided with all your study resources and support on your computer, tablet and smartphone.

What learning materials are included with this course?

Following your enrolment into this course, our administration staff will provide you with your username and password to access the CLET Online Study Cloud. You will then have the opportunity to go through the comprehensive course overview and induction area and complete a pre-course self-assessment. If you have not studied to at least the level of this course, you will also be asked to complete a short online Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN) activity that will be emailed to you. Results from both of these will help CLET staff get to know you and to ensure you are enrolled into the correct course for you.

Inside the CLET Study Cloud you will also have access to all your study resources, submit assessments, assessment feedback, student support, online meeting area, news, library areas and much more.

Examples of resources:

- unit guide for each unit of study
- study plan
- learning instructional videos
- assessment instructional videos
- audio instructions
- relevant websites
- industry videos
- relevant unit readings
- message your trainer button
- access to ALL CLET support staff

Study Cloud provides 24/7 access to all course resources and the ability to complete and submit assessments, including:

- Dashboard, including the latest news
- Student Orientation
- Individual unit areas including a video overview
- Study progress

RTO #31254

- ZOOM meeting area for live meetings and assessments with the trainer
- Study workbooks that include website links, industry videos and images, readings and engaging activities
- Assessment instructions that include templates when required
- Assessment submission areas
- Assessment results and feedback
- Opportunity for you to provide feedback on your learning experience
- Guidance on where to find any additional (free or trial) software needed and how to find and use it

RTO #31254

What are the assessment methods?

This course is assessed using a diverse range of assessment strategies to ensure we cover the assessment conditions for each unit of study and provide our students with interesting and flexible assessment experiences.

All assessments are completed in your own time and submitted online, with no assessment due dates. This modern and flexible approach is designed to reduce the uncomfortable pressure and unnecessary stress that traditional assessment testing is so famous for. Marking feedback is provided online usually within 3 weeks of submission.

Many assessments will include researching, reading and analysing information on your computer, laptop or tablet (Internet required), however each unit of study provides assessment instructions and benchmarks you can easily follow to successfully complete each assessment task.

Click here to read in full: how we assess (<https://clet.edu.au/how-we-assess/>) our courses.

Admission requirements

What are the admission requirements for the course?

Formal Entry Requirements:

There are no formal entry requirements for this qualification, however please read through the following information to assess if you have the English language and literacy skills necessary to successfully complete this course.

Suggested Entry Pathways:

Due to the ASCF core skills of learning, reading, writing, oral communication and numeracy involved in this course, it is suggested that:

Education: you have successfully completed year 10 (only a recommendation).

Employment: you have an interest in working in a business or legal setting, which can include the public sector, or you would like to use this course to prepare you for higher level study.

Is this course right for me?: to assist with your decision, click on the 'Is this course right for me' button positioned at the top of the right hand side of this page and it will ask you questions to assist you in making your decision to enrol.

Technical Requirements: please see the technical requirements below, as you will need access to a modern personal computer and the internet to study this course. In addition, you will need to be able to use this computer, including basic word processing, use of Microsoft Office software and electronic communication platforms and internet search engines.

Enrolment Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN) testing: if you cannot meet any of the above suggested entry requirements, which are a guide only and not mandatory, and you would still like to enrol into this course, it is a procedure during our enrolment process to email everyone a link to participate in a short online LLN test that will check your current learning, reading, writing, oral communication and numeracy skills and from these results, allow us to offer you the necessary support needed, if any, to help you successfully complete this course.

Learner support: learner support is offered for this course. Following enrolment you will be asked to complete a questionnaire that will allow you to identify any factors that may impact your ability to successfully complete your studies.

Language, literacy and numeracy testing

This is provided as part of the enrolment and induction process to allow us to check your core skills learning, reading, writing, oral communication and numeracy skills entering the course. This will allow our support staff to build a profile against your selected course and offer you a support plan if needed. This is designed to increase your ability to successfully complete your course in a timely manner that best suits your personal needs.

What core skills will I be expected to use and at what level during this course?

Each core skill is ranked between (low) level 1 – 5 (high) levels of performance:

- Learning
- Reading
- Writing
- communication
- Numeracy

CLET provides you with an amazing amount of online study resources and support staff to answer your questions and provide assistance when necessary.

The following table allows you to see what level of the core skills you will need to successfully complete this course, with assistance from CLET support staff.

RTO #31254

| Core skill | Level   | What is expected during this course?  |
|------------|---------|---|
| Learning   | Level 5 | Your learning at level 5 will be achieved by self-directed learning, actively managing your study commitments and approaching assessments with the attitude that they are new learning challenges and should be completed to a high level. You will work alongside CLET training and support staff asking questions and following instructions, but also making suggestions and critically evaluating your personal strengths and weaknesses as you progress. You will have access to a suitable place for independent study. Success will also be achieved if you regularly access your study material in Study Cloud and save them to a dedicated folder for each unit of study. It is best if you use a diary or a study planner to record study, family, work and social commitments, login details and course progress and identify potential barriers to learning and some possible solutions if needed. There will be some learning challenges that involve moving outside your personal comfort zone that includes participating in online collaborations where appropriate, e.g. discussion boards and may be asked to lead a group on a short research project using the CLET online meeting area and independent research and referencing will be part of your study requirements. You will develop long term strategies to achieve specialised personal/career goals involving management of a range of variables, e.g. formal study or finding opportunities to learn and demonstrate skills in the workplace and actively seek and act on detailed feedback from a number of sources. |

|----------------|----------------|--|
| Reading | Level 4 | At level 4 you will actively identify an explicit (clear) purpose for reading, e.g. to gather background information, identify specific facts or understand a concept You will identify a range of questions to be answered by reading that may generate further questions during the reading process. This will include the evaluation of the usefulness of texts to meet your assessment needs. You will begin to appreciate that reading is an active and interactive process in which your expectations and past experience influence their interpretation. You will begin to evaluate the credibility, reasonableness and relevance of information and ideas as a routine part of the reading and assessment process that will introduce an increasing number of uncommon words and specialised vocabulary. |
|----------------|----------------|--|

|---------------------------|---------|--|
| Writing            | Level 4 | At level 4 you will produce a range of documents (familiar and some unfamiliar) and interrelate ideas and information from support material when writing about familiar topics. You will use layouts consistent with CLET assessment conditions and review writing, incorporating teacher/student support comments into the drafting process and use a dictionary and/or spell checker to vocabulary choices, and an English thesaurus (hard copy or online) to extend own vocabulary bank. You will integrate information and ideas from a range of sources, utilising appropriate support materials, and display logical organisational structure in writing through the use of coherently linked paragraphs, using some references. You will check writing by re-reading to check for consistency and accuracy. |
| Oral communication | Level 4 | At level 4 you may be required to demonstrate flexibility in spoken texts by choosing appropriate structures and strategies in a range of contexts. You may also apply appropriate strategies to extract main ideas from oral texts across a range of contexts. This will be achieved in many ways including listening to and following assessment audio and/or video instructions, talking over the phone or attending a scheduled CLET online course induction and study and assessment meetings conducted using either audio only and/or using live video with a CLET trainer or student support.   |

Numeracy

What about Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)?

Recognition of prior learning is available on this qualification.

After reading the information provided on this qualification page, if you then decide to apply to have your knowledge and skills recognised towards this and/or other qualifications, you may click on the RPL Assessment button and complete the application form to commence the process.

Click on the following headings to learn more about the CLET recognition of prior learning (RPL) process.

Who is eligible to apply for RPL?

CLET specialises in providing recognition of prior learning (RPL) to people who are current or former police, military, emergency services, nursing and all other government at all levels. WHY? Because that is where our workplace knowledge, experience and education is focused and current.

RPL assessment is obligation free

The RPL assessment process is 'free of charge' and 'obligation free'. You only pay the RPL fee if you wish to be awarded with your qualification/s and receive the certificate/s after the assessment process is complete and you are advised of the result. We do this in recognition of the impeccable work you have done for our community.

When RPL form is submitted

After you complete the RPL Assessment form, evidence to support your knowledge and skills is required. When this is received, CLET staff will commence the initial review of your experience against the criteria of one or more qualifications. On the application form you may elect the qualification/s you wish to be assessed against or ask for a general assessment.

1. The more evidence you provide that is relevant against the qualification/s criteria you wish to be assessed against, the easier it is for CLET staff to be confident you possess the knowledge and skills required.
2. If required, a competency conversation may be conducted over the phone

RTO #31254
