NATIONALLY RECOGNISED
TRAINING

BSB41419 - Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety

A generic but operational qualification that will demonstrate your experience in workplace safety. Apply for RPL with CLET today.

The CLET BSB41419 Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety is offered by CLET through Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) to current and former members of the military, police, emergency services, health, and corrective services. It is a nationally recognised qualification that demonstrates the dedication to safety insisted upon in all these organisations.

If you have been an operational member and have worked under the organisational policies and procedures and abided by the safety requirements and actively participated in the ongoing organisational WHS training, then RPL is likely an option for you. You may be surprised how the safety practices that are normal daily routine for you in your current or former service role are actually reflective of the knowledge and skills in the BSB41419 Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety.

Apply for RPL with CLET today and have the RPL Team guide you through the assessment process. The opportunity to have this nationally recognised qualification on your resume will greatly enhance your transition into the civilian workplace.

Click on the following headings to learn more about the CLET recognition of prior learning (RPL) process.

Who is eligible to apply for RPL?

CLET specialises in providing recognition of prior learning (RPL) to people who are current or former police, military, emergency services, nursing and all other government at all levels. WHY? Because that is where our workplace knowledge, experience and education is focused and current.

RPL assessment is obligation free

The RPL assessment process is 'free of charge' and 'obligation free'. You only pay the RPL fee if you wish to be awarded with your qualification/s and receive the certificate/s after the assessment process is complete and you are advised of the result. We do this in recognition of the impeccable work you have done for our community.

When RPL form is submitted

After you complete the RPL Assessment form, evidence to support your knowledge and skills is required. When this is received, CLET staff will commence the initial review of your experience against the criteria of one or more qualifications. On the application form you may elect the qualification/s you wish to be assessed against or ask for a general assessment.

1. The more evidence you provide that is relevant against the qualification/s criteria you wish to be assessed against, the easier it is for CLET staff to be confident you possess the knowledge and skills required.
2. If required, a competency conversation may be conducted over the phone
